

Isabelle Stengers: Constructivism in Practice

A workshop organized by the Technological Natures research cluster,
School of Geography and Environment, Oxford University

On Friday 17th May at St Catherine's College, Oxford, Arumugam Building

Programme

2-2.10pm

Introduction: Isabelle Stengers: constructivism in practice

2.10-2.50pm Andy Goffey (Nottingham)

'Philosophical experiments in the ecology of practices'

2.50-3.30pm Andrew Barry (Oxford)

'Between politics and cosmopolitics'

3.30-4.10pm

Round table on Isabelle Stengers' Cosmopolitics vols 1-7

4.10-4.30 Tea

4.30-5.10pm Sarah Whatmore (Oxford)

'Experimental constructivism: model learning'

5.10-5.50pm Michael Halewood (Essex)

'A cosmopolitical proposal?' Stengers (and Whitehead) on propositions and proposals'

5.50-6pm

Concluding remarks

6.15pm

Drinks, Fellows' Garden

Admission is free.

For further information contact Andrew Barry, andrew.barry@geog.ox.ac.uk

The Arumugam seminar room is immediately above the college Porters' Lodge

For directions to St Catherine's see:

<https://www.stcatz.ox.ac.uk/contact/map-and-directions>